

With the

And the generous support of

SSI – EFIS on Tour Symposium

Immunomodulation - from the lab to the bedside

Venue: SSI Annual Meeting Reykjavík

June 12

13:30 – 17:30

Co-Chairs:

Björn Rúnar Lúðvíksson, SSI – Andreas Radbruch, EFIS

13:30 – 13:40	Opening Remarks
13:40 – 14:10	Vincenzo Cerullo, Ph.D - ImmunoViroTherapy Lab, IVTLab, University of Helsinki Dressing up viruses to fool cancer
14:10 – 14:40	Sædís Sævarsdóttir, MD, Ph.D – University of Iceland Personalised medicine: from bench to bedside
14:40 – 15:10	Espen Melum, MD, PhD - Oslo University Hospital, Rikshospitalet and University of Oslo. Regulation of bile duct inflammation - implications for treatment
15:10 – 15:35	Dagbjört Petursdóttir – BD Biosciences What's New in Flowcytometry
15:35 – 16:00	Coffee break
16:00 – 16:30	Marieke van Ham – Sanquin Research, Amsterdam Inverse relationships between SARS-CoV-2-specific B memory subsets and longevity of antibody response after infection
16:30 – 17:00	Jenny Persson – Lund University Unconventional TLR-mediated inflammasome activation in macrophages – relevance for the NRK kinase and the cytokine IL-10
17:00 – 17:30	Federica Sallusto – ETH Zürich One for all: cross-reactive T and B cells in SARS-CoV-2 infection or vaccination
17:30	Wrap up